

OAMR Reception home learning grid

Monday 4th May 2020

If you only have 15 minutes free today...

- 1) Read your child a story and ask them to help you pick out the sounds / words they know.
- 2) Practise counting forwards and backwards to 20, starting on different numbers each time (e.g counting forwards from 8, or backwards from 15).
- 3) Spend some quality time with your child playing a turn taking game (e.g. snap or a board game).

Mrs Thomas' raffle ticket challenge: Can you choose one of your favourite books and retell it using the pictures to your grown up?

Special family activity!

Your job is to build a house for the three little pigs! Why not have a competition between family members? 😊 You can use any materials you like for building and attaching, but the rules are:

- 1) It must be able to fit 3 pigs inside (if you don't have toy pigs, use 3 different small toys)
- 2) It must be able to stand up by itself for at least 10 seconds.
- 3) It must be able to withstand your family's best huffing and puffing!

What materials did you use? Why did they work / not work?

Phonics

Watch 'Oi – Get off our train!' which teaches us the sound 'oi' (See Miss Parsons' video on Tapestry for caption actions). Read these words & add the sound buttons, then have a go at writing the words for the three pictures. Can you make a sentence using two of the words?

Literacy – Traditional Tales week

This week we will be looking at a different traditional tale each day. If you have any of these in book form at home then definitely read them, but if you don't we have found a suitable YouTube link for the story instead. Click on the title which is hyperlinked to get through to the clip 😊

The Three Little Pigs (comprehension session)

Read the story with your child then ask them the following questions:
*Why did the pigs have to build their own homes?
What did the wolf say when he came to each of the pig's houses?
What did the wolf look like? What does a wolf smell like?
Were the pigs good or bad? What about the wolf?
Was this a true story? Could it really have happened?*

What do you think the lesson is from this story?

Maths

The Three Little Pigs are leaving home. They need to pack a bag each. Can you pack 3 bags, each with the items in the list below.

3 toys, 2 cups, 1 book, 4 snacks and 5 items of clothing.

How many items does each pig have in their bag? How many toys/cups/snacks do they have altogether? How many more items of clothing do they have than cups? How many books and toys do the pigs have altogether?
